

Dear Customer,

The detailing industry has some unique circumstances that require explanation. The process of headlight restoration needs mutual clarification before we begin work on your vehicle. The process of refinishing your lamps is abrasive, to include masking surrounding body parts, cleaning, waxing, etc. You, the customer, need to be aware of these circumstances and that we do not assume any current or future liability for support or reimbursement of costs due to these directly related conditions.

Due to the aggressive adhesion of tapes and masking there are times when the products we use will lift the paint off the car during application or removal. Since car history is unknown, we cannot be liable for and damage caused by the related processes. Often re-painted panels are problematic. Lifting, bubbling, current, and future blistering or delamination of the paint fit this category.

Please sign and date below confirming you understand these concerns and that Sun & Shade is not liable for remedy or support of these conditions
